

We match people with jobs that fit their values and passions.

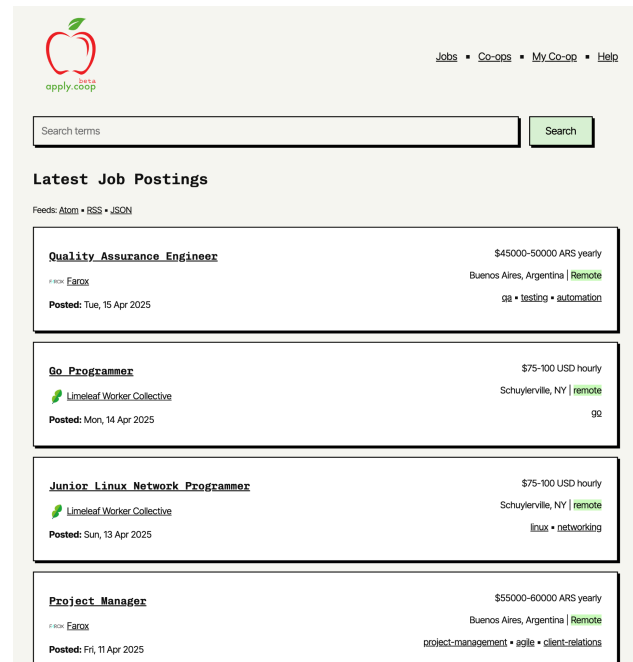

Finally, an online job board built for worker-owned organizations!

Built and operated for co-ops by a co-op, apply.coop makes it easy and affordable to find qualified candidates who share your organization's values and are invested in its success.

How It Works

Co-ops pay a small fee to list a job on apply.coop. There are no subscriptions, upsells, or hidden fees.

Job seekers browse the site anonymously and for free—no registration required. apply.coop leads them directly to your co-op's ATS, web form, email address, or other point of contact to express their interest.

Why Post Your Jobs on apply.coop?

- Privacy first—no unnecessary cookies, no tracking, and no AI data scraping.
- No annoying upsells like on Big Tech job sites.
- Fast, responsive design tailored for mobile devices.
- Full-text search with RSS feeds ensures that users know when a new job is posted.
- Job links are optimized for social sharing, including the job's title and description.
- Localized for English and Spanish (other languages coming soon!)
- Federated job sharing via ActivityPub and other protocols (coming soon!)

Help Us Get apply.coop Ready for Prime Time!

To be an apply.coop Beta tester (free job postings!), sign up at <https://apply.coop> or email us at crew@apply.coop.

Small Tech products need grassroots support to compete with Big Tech's marketing might. Please share apply.coop with your friends in the cooperative movement!

apply.coop is a self-funded project of Limeleaf Worker Collective (limeleaf.coop). We do not take venture capital or private equity money.